Claude Derrick, who probably will cover short field for the New Yorks this year, signed a contract yesterday. Derrick was a sensation with the Baitimore club in the International League last season. He was sold to the Orioles by the Athletics early in the campaign, chiefly for the reason that Connie Mack had no room for him in the infield. Derrick, in the opinion of such experts as Jack Dunn, John Ganzel, George Stallings, Joe Kelley, Bill Donovan and other men who saw him play in the International last summer, will make a big reputation in the American League under the supervision of Manager Chance, Dunn, who owns and manages the Bal-Dunn, who owns and manages the Baltimores, says that Derrick is the best shortstop he ever saw in minor league company, but that if Derrick is placed on second base by Chance it will be a fatal mistake. In a Baltimore uniform Derrick played 30 games, in which he scored 21 runs, made 30 hits for a total of 42 bases, yielding a batting average of .261. He stood third among the shortstops in fielding with a percentage of .961, having 51 putouts, 71 assists and 5 errors in 21 putouts, 71 assists and 5 errors in 23

At shortstop Derrick had 27 putouts, 57 assists, 11 errors and a percentage of .884. He is a six footer, weighs 185 pounds and is 26 years old. Derrick was drafted by Detroit last fall, but was turned over to the New York Americans in exchange for Catcher-Rondeau, who had been drafted from Jersey City.

A verbal agreement has been made between President Ebbets of the Brooklyn club and President Farrell of the New York Americans, by which the Dodgers will play the first game at the new park up at Kingsbridge in 1914. When it was arranged the other day to have Frank Chance's men open Ebbets Field on April 5 and also appear there again on April 7 there was talk of a return engagement at the new home of the New Yorks. Since then, it was learned yesterday, the two club owners have clinched the matter and the Dodgers probably will meet Chance's men next year in a series of three games instead of two. According to the present plan the Brooklyns will open at Kingston. The coulom was on the defensive in a queen's pawn opening, which he treated in his favorite style.
